

Exodus 12:1-14

I think that most of the Israelites were very intimidated with what Moses and Aaron told them. Imagine if someone told you to get ready to leave your home forever. Although they knew where Aaron's and Moses' authority came from, they were probably a little scared of the prospect of leaving. The Israelites had been watching the other plagues and in this one God wanted them to do something. The blood of the lambs on the doorways is like the Blood of the Lamb, Jesus. Jesus was sacrificed by his own people to save them from death as the lambs were to save the first born. Jews still celebrate Passover today.
